who lives with
acute kidney disease

Eight-year-old Bailey from Christchurch was born with obstructions to both kidneys and from birth had to undergo many operations. At the age of four one of his kidneys stopped working and he underwent a nephrectomy. Bailey still suffers from high blood pressure and takes daily medication. He makes regular visits to Christchurch Hospital for observation on his condition.

He lives with his parents David and Melissa, sister Paris-Lilly, three dogs, Finn, Izzy and Boss and Milly the cat.

Bailey's hobbies include football, watching rugby and riding his bike.
